

Short Biography – H. Jane Huffnagle, D.O., F.A.O.C.A.

Dr. Jane Huffnagle completed her undergraduate education at Bloomsburg University in 1980 with a BS in medical technology. She worked as a microbiologist for 3 years until she attended Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, graduating in 1987. She did a rotating internship at the Hospital of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine and then completed a three year residency in Anesthesiology at Jefferson University Hospital, with a subspecialty in Obstetric Anesthesia. Dr. Huffnagle passed her original certification in Anesthesiology in 1992 and has since recertified twice. She trains medical students, residents, and SRNAs on a daily basis and was awarded the faculty teaching award in 2003 and 2008 for her contribution to resident education. She is currently the Director of Obstetric Anesthesia at Thomas Jefferson University and has obtained the rank of Clinical Professor of Anesthesiology, and Obstetrics & Gynecology. She has many abstracts, presentations, publications and 8 textbook chapters to her credit, mostly in the field of Obstetric Anesthesia. She has been a guest lecturer many times in the past both at Jefferson and many other institutions. She is active in SOAP, ASA, and the AOCA where she is on the Scientific Essay and Awards and Honors Committees.