

Lynne Boone is a Consult-Liaison Psychiatrist at Harry Truman Veteran's Administration Hospital in Columbia MO. She cares for patients in a variety of settings, including the acute psychiatric inpatient unit and a teeming outpatient clinic. She supervises and mentors University of Missouri psychiatric residents. She provides consultation services to medical and surgical teams, and her first love is multidisciplinary collaborative care. Medicine is a second career choice for her and she only regrets it when her call schedule disrupts playing board games with her nine-year-old daughter or drinking a much-needed cup of coffee with her long-suffering husband.
