

Dr. Robert Molnar is a Board-certified Anesthesiologist with 35 years of private practice. He has extensive training in cardiac anesthesia and pain management and has recently joined RUSH University in Chicago as an associate professor in anesthesia.

Dr. Molnar has also founded an airway device company that is making its way to market this year. He has spent more than 10 years designing, engineering and testing new approaches to airway rescue, intubation and visualization.